

these are pictures taken in the Spring of 1945 at a barn in Gardlegan, ^{SP(?)} Germany.

The German Army retreated & couldn't take these people along or leave behind alive. If I remember, there were almost three hundred.

I was an Army Signal Corps photographer and was there while the bodies were still burning.
The white lines on some pics are tape to keep out people while we prepared to bury them. A cemetery is maintained by the local German people.

VERA ECKHUND