

24 DPA SERIES: THE NAZI HOLOCAUST - SERIES II — "If the victims realized immediately after entering the camp what would be their fate, they might attempt to make a stand which, of course, could make the action of extermination more difficult and complicated. But the arrivals — the foreign transports in particular — were misled, or terrorized and stunned by the camp's appearance. The prisoners were forced to work. The intention was to gradually exhaust the prisoners through exhausting, back-breaking work, finally

DOCUMENTARY PHOTO AIDS®
Box 956, Mount Dora, Florida 32757