ENGLAND GREETSON BORN TO THE DUCHESS OF KENT

Fifth Grandchild to Their Majesties

(Reuter/PTA and B. O. W. P.)

LONDON, Wednesday. — There is great rejoicing throughout the United Kingdom today over the news that the Duchess of Kent has given birth to a son.

A bulletin issued from her London residence at 3, Belgrave Square, W. L., early this morning states:

"Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent was safely delivered of a son at 2.5 o'clock this morning.

"The condition of Her Royal Highness and of the infant Prince is satisfactory."

Those Present

Those who were waiting at Belgrave Square through the night were the Duke, the Prince and Princess Nicholas of Greece, the Duchess' parents and Countess Toerring, her sister.

In accordance with constitutional procedure, Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary, was also present. It is necessary for the Home Minister to attend at all Royal births. The bulletin announcing the birth was sent by Sir John to the Home Office, where it was immediately displayed.

News to Grandparents

The news of the birth of the prince was immediately telephoned to Sandringham, where the King and Queen are in residence. The Duke of Gloucester and Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott are also staying there.

Hundreds of messages are pouring in at Belgrave Square and Buckingham Palace bringing congratulations and expressions of good will. It is believed that the infant will be named Prince George of Kent.

AMERICA ON SANCTIONS

WILL RECOGNIZE BLOCKADE MEASURES

(From a Special Correspondent)

NEW YORK, October 8. — It is not thought likely in official circles that the U. S. Government will take part in the League sanctions to be applied against Italy, or that it will send an "observer" to the proposed Committee of Co-ordination.

But America will not oppose such sanctions, and will recognise any blockade measures that may be adopted.

It has been reaffirmed that Americans trading with Italy will do so at their own risk.

Nor (according to a Tokyo message) is Japan expected to support the proposed sanctions. While a warning will be issued against shipping munitions to Italy, normal commercial relations are expected to continue.

Japan now intends to compete strongly in the artificial silk market as Italy, one of the largest manufacturers, is engrossed in war.

FRANCE OPEN TO REICH ATTACK

POSSIBLE GERMAN AGGRESSION

(From Reuter)

LONDON, October, 8. — The French reply to Sir Samuel Hoare's recent oral inquiry is regarded here as disappointing, as it seems to have gone beyond the contingency which the British Government obviously had in mind.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN AMITY IS KEYNOTE OF CELEBRATION

King Fuad's Accession Marked in Alexandria

(From a Special Correspondent)

ALEXANDRIA, Wednesday (By Telephone). — The celebration today of the anniversary of King Fuad's accession to the Throne was given a special meaning in Alexandria, where the King is in residence, by the display of the Anglo-Egyptian loyal co-operation in preparation for any eventualities resulting from the international crisis.

The concentration in Alexandria waters of a large part of the British Mediterranean Fleet, reinforced by warships of the Home Fleet and two cruisers from the China and South America stations respectively, adds a sense of security which dispels any possible uneasiness.

Royal Salute Fired

The Fleet came into "action" by firing a Royal salute of 21 guns in honour of the King's accession today, practically under the windows of the Palace.

But the Fleet is otherwise inconspicuous, its 15,000 men entirely unobtrusive, and Alexandria scarcely aware of their ships or ratings.

The co-ordination of British military, naval and air forces will be brought a step forward with the arrival in H. M. S. "Queen Elizabeth" of Air Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham. He is the Inspector-General of the Royal Air Force.

Parade on Friday

Friday will provide a visible demonstration of the Anglo-Egyptian military co-operation, when Alexandria will see the unusual spectacle of British and Egyptian sailors and soldiers marching past

British and French Disagree on the Form of Sanctions

League Meeting Postponed

ITALY READY FOR "DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS"

(From Reuter/PTA, British Official Wireless Press and Reuter/Wireless)

A cleavage of opinion between the British and French delegations at Geneva upon the form which sanctions should take, was the principal feature of the international situation yesterday.

The divergence led to a postponement of the Assembly meeting until 6 o'clock (Swiss time), while the Bureau meeting was called for 3 o'clock. The latter decided upon procedure.

REASON FOR DIFFERENCE

It was understood that the Anglo-French difference arose from the fact that the latter argued that sanctions should be progressive within the limits of economic measures.

The British delegates, however, wanted sanctions to be progressive, from purely economic to drastic measures, and insisted that economic sanctions should be applied as a whole immediately, and not progressively.

Technical experts on both sides have been meeting frequently during the past three days, and a practical scheme is taking shape. The difficulty is presented by the method of application.

The idea of devising the appropriate economic pressure upon Italy under the Covenant's Article 16 will, however devolve upon the Committee of Co-Ordination to be set up by the Assembly.

A Shock to Rome

A Reuter message says that the League's decision gave an unpleasant shock to Italian opinion, which believed that Geneva was veering round towards the Italian viewpoint.

Signor Mussolini emphasised that Italy would not leave the League unless she was driven out.

ALL QUIET ON EASTERN FRONT

LULL IN EAST AFRICAN FIGHTING

(Reuter/PTA and Reuter/Wireless)

It was "all quiet on the eastern front" yesterday in Africa, and according to a Rome communique of October 8, the whole front was tranquil, except for small patrol action and aircraft reconnoitring.

Organisation of communications with the rear-line was in the meantime actively continuing, it was added.

Operations in the North

Italian operations were in any event confined to the northern sector controlled from Eritrea. No movement was reported from the east or south.

The Italian command stated that its men were consolidating their positions, and had pushed the line somewhat forward.

As for the Ethiopian flanking movement, there was little news, except for an Italian statement that an attack on Om Ager, east of Eritrea and near the Sudan border, had been repulsed. It was also reported that an Ethiopian counter-offensive, east of the Italian ince, where it was immediately displayed.

News to Grandparents

The news of the birth of the prince was immediately telephoned to Sandringham, where the King and Queen are in residence. The Duke of Gloucester and Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott are also staying there.

Hundreds of messages are pouring in at Belgrave Square and Buckingham Palace bringing congratulations and expressions of good will.

It is believed that the infant will be named Prince George of Kent.

The Royal christening may take place before the marriage of the Duke of Gloucester next month. The Duke and Duchess of Kent were married on November 29 last year.

The Fifth Grandchild

The new prince is the King and Queen's fifth grandchild and third grandson. He is seventh in the line of direct succession to the Throne.

The order of precedence is: the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, Princess Elizabeth, Princess Margaret Rose, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent.

Bruno Hauptmann's Appeal Fails

WILL DIE UNLESS REPRIEVED

(From Reuter/PTA)

TRENTON, New Jersey, Wednesday. — The Court of Appeal here today rejected the appeal by Bruno Hauptmann against his conviction by a lower court last February for the murder of Baby Lindbergh.

Hauptmann is thus doomed to go to the electric chair unless a reprieve is granted by the Governor of the State.

By a strange coincidence, today was the anniversary of the date upon which Hauptmann was indicted by the grand jury at Flemington, New Jersey, for murder in the first degree.

REICH ATTACK

POSSIBLE GERMAN AGGRESSION

(From Reuter)

LONDON, October, 8. — The French reply to Sir Samuel Hoare's recent oral inquiry is regarded here as disappointing, as it seems to have gone beyond the contingency which the British Government obviously had in mind.

Semi-official opinion holds that France's request for reciprocal undertakings is related to the eventuality of possible German aggression.

Aggressor State

France declared in last night's Note that the application of assistance must apply to an aggressor state, whether a member of the League or not.

Parade on Friday

Friday will provide a visible demonstration of the Anglo-Egyptian military co-operation, when Alexandria will see the unusual spectacle of British and Egyptian sailors and soldiers marching past in a grand parade.

The composite Anglo-Egyptian force will comprise bluejackets and Royal Marines from units of the British Navy, the Ulster Rifles, and a few battalions of Egyptian infantry.

operations were in any event confined to the northern sector controlled from Eritrea. No movement was reported from the east or south.

The Italian command stated that its men were consolidating their positions, and had pushed the line somewhat forward.

As for the Ethiopian flanking movement, there was little news, except for an Italian statement that an attack on Om Ager, east of Eritrea and near the Sudan border, had been repulsed. It was also reported that an Ethiopian counter-offensive, east of the Italian line at Adagamos, had also been repulsed.

Use of Gas Alleged

General Nasibi, Ethiopian Commander in the south, alleges that the Italians have been using gas bombs and that civilian inhabitants have suffered principally.

The... appropriate economic pressure upon Italy under the Covenant's Article 16 will, however devolve upon the Committee of Co-Ordination to be set up by the Assembly.

A Shock to Rome

A Reuter message says that the League's decision gave an unpleasant shock to Italian opinion, which believed that Geneva was veering round towards the Italian viewpoint.

Signor Mussolini emphasised that Italy would not leave the League unless she was driven out. But it is felt that events are heading rapidly towards that point.

Responsible circles in Rome (according to the A.E.O. Agency) declare that Italy's withdrawal will depend upon the form and kind of sanctions.

Tel Aviv Girds for Peace: The Levant Fair

"A few days after the beginning of war, we are gathered here to show that we are going ahead with our work." With these words, Mr. Dizengoff, Mayor of Tel Aviv and Chairman of the Levant Fair Committee, addressed an important meeting at the Calina Restaurant in the Levant Fair Grounds yesterday, marking beginning of the preparations for the 1936 Fair.

The meeting was international in character. Seated with Mr. Dizengoff at the speaker's table were Mr. Kaplan of the Jewish Agency; Mr. Clark, Manager of Barclays Bank; Mr. Hoofien, Manager of the Anglo-Palestine Bank; Mr. Shelley, President of the Jerusalem Chamber of Commerce; Mr. A. Epstein, District Officer, Dr. Kubalek, Czechoslovakian delegate to the Fair; Mr. Mulder, representing the Holland Fair Committee; Mr. Hechman, Vice-President of the Manufacturers' Association of Palestine; Mr. Christopher Powell, of London; Mr. Turin, Mr. Arisohn of the local Importers' Association and the Directors of the Levant Fair Management, Messrs. Idelsohn, Yerserov Yoffe and Torokcr.

About 300 persons, representing all branches of commercial life in this country, as well as almost all the members of the Consular Corps and the representatives of the Palestine Italian Chamber of Commerce and the other foreign chambers, were also present.

Palestine's Great Possibilities

The sentiments expressed by Mr. Dizengoff were reiterated by the speakers who followed. Mr. Kaplan declared that the progress of the country demands the possibility for uninterrupted expansion and this small country is showing her great ability to absorb large masses of Jews whose economic existence in other countries is becoming impossible. He mentioned the difficulties of local industrialists because of the lack of protection, but he stated that "the Fair gives us an opportunity to establish ties which will open markets for our products in those countries from which we are buying goods to the amount of LP. 18,000,000 this year. This Fair will show us openings for new investments and developments and in the work of building the country".

Because Mr. Clark was suffering from hoarseness of the throat his address was read by Mr. Shelley who remarked that commerce should come before banking as there would be no banking without commerce. In his speech Mr. Clark stated:

"DO YOUR PART"

"It would be a thousand pities if we allowed fear about the future to take the place of our usual confidence in the future, and thus subjected ourselves to being exploited by profiteers desirous of raising commodity prices for their own selfish ends, thereby penalising the whole consuming public. It would have an even more harmful effect upon the economic well-being of our country if we were to allow such fear to permeate into the realm of banking, for the repercus-

Last Minute News

"Great Britain and the East" (formerly "Near East and India") in a special Palestine supplement issued today praises the soundness of Palestine finance and forecasts a satisfactory solution of trade problems. The article declares that the future of Palestine depends on a greater immigration and the importation of capital.

Mainly for economic reasons, Austria and Hungary, who besides Italy, were the only two dissentors, spoke against the acceptance of the League Council report involving the application of Sanctions at the meeting of the League Assembly last night. With only Baron Aloisi's dissenting speech on the agenda for the Assembly meeting this morning, the report is regarded as accepted by all other members of the League.

Both M. Laval and Mr. Eden will address the Assembly after the acceptance of the Council's report, and it is expected that the Committee of Co-ordination, which will probably consist of the Council and ten more League members, including Austria and Hungary, will be set up by the Assembly by noon today.

CARMEL NEWSREELS SHOWN ABROAD

(From Our Own Correspondent)

TEL AVIV, Oct. 4. — The Carmel Newsreel, which has been shown in local cinemas each week for almost a year, will now be seen abroad as well. The first of the series to be sent is a review of the year in Palestine, compiled from excerpts of various newsreels which were shown during the year. It was shown at a special press review in the Migdalor Cinema last Thursday. The film includes pictures of the Purim Carnival in Tel Aviv, the Second Maccabiah, the Bialik Memorial Exhibition, and as a finale, some beautiful shots of the "Bikurim" celebrations in the Stadium at Tel Aviv. It is expected that, with the co-operation of the Keren Kayemeth, similar editions will be sent abroad once a month.

Equipment for sound-recording is about to be purchased and it will be a welcome substitute for the music supplied by gramophone records as at present.

The products of the Carmel Firm are amazing, considering the conditions under which they are produced. The entire "Studio" consists of a few rooms of Mr. Axelrod's home in Schunath Montefiore and an adjoining shack. The equipment is very primitive, most of it having been assembled by hand.

KEREN HAYESOD FILM AT GENEVA

To be Shown to League Circles

The film "Towards a New Life," produced under the auspices of the Keren Hayesod, will be shown to an audience of important personalities at Geneva at the end of October.

A message to this effect has been received in Jerusalem from Dr. Nahum Goldmann, Jewish Agency representative at Geneva.

THE IRAQI BRITISH RAILWAY AGREEMENT

TRANSFER SCHEME DRAWN UP

(From Our Own Correspondent)

BAGHDAD, October 3. — An agreement a preliminary account of which was given in The Palestine Post of October 4, has been reached in principle between Iraq and the British Government for the final transfer of the ownership of the Iraq railways to the Iraq Government, according to an official statement which was issued today in connection with the railways which up to the present have been the property of the British Government.

The transfer includes all machinery, spares and accessories whether movable or immovable, with lands, and reserve funds, amounting to £315,000 and unused stores.

The transfer is made on condition that the Iraq Government shall pay the British Government £400,000; that a limited number of British technical officials shall be retained for a limited period if their services are essential and that the Iraq Government shall accept all responsibilities for such transfer.

It is provided in the agreement that the administration of the Railways be carried out by a Board of Management, the majority of whose members shall be Iraqis. Railways will be treated as an Iraq Government Department and will be attached to a Ministry which will be responsible for the conduct of its affairs.

The news agreement, which will replace the old agreement in the annex to the Treaty of Alliance with Great Britain, will be submitted to Parliament for approval immediately it has been completed.

HAIFA, Oct. 8. — The police dogs scored another victory against crime in rural districts by successfully tracking a man who deliberately injured an animal near Hedera.

WHAT THE ETHIOPIAN THINKS

By LAURENCE STALLINGS

JIBUTI

Ethiopia sits behind its serried escarpments to the west and hugs its precious water holes in the south, while trusting nothing white, neither nation, nor fleet. Haile Selassie, who is the cleverest ruler in Africa, plays a lone hand. He sits amidst a collection of mud huts surrounded by his "yes-men" or councillors, who are the mere figureheads of his autocratic will. Of the whole hocus-pocus of western organisation, war ministers, ministers of State, etc., none knows the inmost thoughts of the Ruler.

The Ethiopian nation has really closed its gates. The strictest of guards is set over every trail, every pass leading either to the northern or the southern front. I myself have been questioned relentlessly everywhere when I endeavoured to enter the areas where troops are concentrating.

Every white man is presumed to be an Italian until he has given the clearest proof of another nationality. He is then once more allowed to go free on the understanding that "it is a mere matter of time until your turn comes".

If this bargaining in Europe were not so full of tragic implications in countries other than Abyssinia, it would seem farcical to us here in Ethiopia where jealous princes guard their prerogatives to the utmost although outdoing each other in glibly professing that they are mere clay in the Emperor's hands.

No Need For Maps

The foreign Generals imported for the occasion are mere figureheads and are allowed to cool their heels in native hotels awaiting the princely pleasure while sitting on a crowded seat with common soldiers moving to the front. Something of native shrewdness tells these dark leaders that it is too late for the land to adopt western tactics. Not even native commanders possess maps such as could be brought for six-pence at a bookstall. Too much importance need not be ascribed to this. It is simply not their style. They know every corporal's guard under their command, every pass and every water hole with African acuteness.

The Governor of Harrar and the King of Tigre are actual military leaders of their regions and in their autocratic spirit are second only to the Emperor himself. Neither trusts any bargaining. Knowing little of western military sense and accepting very little expert advice they calmly await the conflict, assuming it to be inevitable. I can personally testify that the Governor of Harrar is sublimely confident that it is impossible for a European force to advance three days' march into his province. Indeed certain advisers, by admitting the possibility that the province was vulnerable offered an unforgivable affront to his Ethiopian pride.

One day I tried vainly to secure an admission from two young princes serving in the Harrar forces that they believed in the disinterestedness of France and Great Britain. "We ourselves," they said, "look askance at the efforts of any country not holding territories as rich in minerals and hides as Ethiopia. They desire to have our country, too."

Modernise — Not Civilise

How little the West understands the situation is indicated in a conversation I had with another Prince who was educated abroad.

"My country," he said, "wants good roads, machine guns, barbed wire and medical stores. It wants nothing else, neither western justice nor civilisation nor laws. We are determined to modernise our country without civilising it, because civilisation stinks."

Their pride is boundless, and is expressed in the oddest ways, even when trucks run past with a few spools of barbed wire just capable of protecting one gun position. They display naive satisfaction when gas masks are sent to the front in crates.

The inhabitants of Addis Ababa, Dire Dawa and Harrar are digging mere foxholes which they cover with sheets of galvanised iron and a few inches of loose earth in the pathetic belief that they are constructing bombproof shelters. However, in spite of all their deficiencies in western eyes, there is much fire behind this smoky ignorance. The Italians are expected to advance in two columns, scissors fashion, through Afgab on the extreme south of the Italian Somaliland border towards Harrar which some time early in October will become the military capital of the country and will defend remote Addis Ababa. The most rigorous efforts are being made at the Emperor's direct orders to prevent correspondents and photographers from suffering any injury at the hands of the peasant militia which cannot easily differentiate between foreign nationalities. The French special police is adamant in the face of requests from correspondents to enter specially guarded areas.

Here in Jibuti the French Government is filling the place with white infantry and the little torrid cafés are reminiscent of the Estaminets behind the old Western Front. Meanwhile nobody in Ethiopia knows anything unless he can creep inside the Emperor's head or else read the orders given to the rulers of Harrar and Tigre, because these three, without maps, staff or war date, sit supreme and secretive over a harsh country.

Counting only on an eventual alliance with thirst and disease, they remain African to the last, shunning western ways for defeating western man. However, the peasant soldiers say. "This was never a white man's country for war. White men cannot go without water and the sun makes them sick."

ARENA OF THE STRUGGLE NOW TAKING PLACE IN EAST AFRICA

A study of the map, republished by courtesy of "The Times" of London, will show the scope of the Italian military operations.

While troops from the north, in a direct line from Asmara, are drawn up along a 70-mile front from Adrigat to Axum — and will soon come into close contact with three Ethiopian columns under Ras Ayelu, Rass Kassa, and Ras Seyum which are proceeding from Makale — a native force from South Eritrea is advancing southwest in an attempt to cut the Jibuti-Addis Ababa railway.

Facing severe hardships, they have occupied Mount Moussa Ali, in the Aussa region (near French Somaliland), but must traverse 100 miles of waterless desert.

The third Italian Army Corps, moving northeast, has occupied Gerlogubi, near Walwal, in the Ogaden province. Here, too, the water problem is acute, and operations are proceeding carefully.

Another Italian force has occupied Dolo, at the extreme northeast corner of Kenya (bottom of the map) on the southwest boundary of Italian Somaliland.

"In Fulfilment of their Obligations"

Late yesterday afternoon the Assembly of the League of Nations, with its representation of fifty Governments, resumed its session at Geneva. The business before it is clear — how to apply Article XVI of the Covenant, now invoked for the first time in the League's history. But what still remains to be seen is the spirit, the moral conviction, with which this task will be faced. The immediate outcome will be the setting up of yet another Committee whose duty it will be "to co-ordinate measures undertaken by the Members of the League in fulfilment of their obligations under Article XVI of the Covenant"; but the present meeting of the Assembly will need to do much more than delegate duties to sub-committees bereft of executive power. We must not lose sight of the combined novelty and gravity of the League's present business. There are no precedents in the Geneva files to help; nor are the terms of Article XVI so precise as to make action automatic. Again, few of the fifty Governments will be moved by altogether similar motives, just as few can tell in advance what, as regards themselves, will be the result of bringing the Article into effective action. All the nations are meditating a step into an utterly dark and unexplored region of diplomacy. If they take that step unitedly and determinedly, they are asked to believe that, with or without encountering unpleasant results, as individual states, the League will emerge stronger and its member States more secure; yet, on the other hand, they have no assurance, whatever, and no power on earth can give them that assurance, that this step into the dark may not plunge them into chaos. It is a venture of faith.

The best that can now be hoped for is that Italy, faced by the united will of the League States, will accept the situation more or less gracefully. She has "retrieved her national honour," supposedly, lost at Adowa some forty years ago: she has won the ground by force of arms and set up a memorial to the Italian soldiers who were massacred there; and having done this she may now throw the whole burden of her outstanding grievances on the shoulders of the League. The certain consequences would be that Italy would recover every bit and more of her repute in the world's eyes; she would have established a sound basis of friendship with Ethiopia; and her resultant economic and territorial gains would, with equal certainty, outweigh enormously any gains which, doubtfully, might have fallen to her by sacrificing tens of thousands of her youth and by the pestilential savagery of modern warfare, and (as the outside world sees it) by the loss of her good repute among the nations.

The alternative to Italy's acceptance of the League as an international "court of honour" is a cynical and contemptuous challenge to the League to do its worst; it is tantamount to Italy's saying that she neither herself believes in the League's sense of justice nor does she believe that, when put to the test, any other nation believes in it either. It is this challenge that the League Assembly at Geneva must now answer.

TWO NEW ARTISTES — SCOTLAND YARD'S CRIME GENIUS RETIRES — RARE TREASURES FOR CHINESE EXHIBITION.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

LONDON, October 1. — A new opera star has risen in a night and she is an Englishwoman. For some days rumour has been busy with the name of Lisa Perli who was to play Mili in Puccini's "La Boheme" at Covent Garden. Who was this new singer? The speculation was still going on when the curtain went up on Saturday night then the new Mili came, and sang and conquered. Not only was the voice beautiful in quality but she is a singer of rare distinction. And Lisa Perli proved to be the well-known concert singer, Dora Labette.

The other new artiste is Miss Margot Fonteyn who made a great success at the opening of the Sadler's Wells Ballet on Friday night and who is only 16. She has been training for a year under Miss Ninette de Valois, and this season will be seen in many of Markova's roles. The popularity of ballet continues. The Woizikovsky season at the Coliseum has been drawing the Town. The Ballets Jooss came from Germany and are now settled in this country. Their headquarters are at Darlington Hall in Devonshire, and they start a month's season at the Gaiety on Monday night. At Christmas the Duke of York's will become a home of ballet, with Markova and Mr. Ardon Dolin as the chief dancers.

Cherchez La Femme

The man to whom crime was an open book—a sort of family album—has retired from Scotland Yard. He is Chief Inspector Rowe, head of the Criminal Records Office who, during his 34 years at the Yard came to be recognised as a connoisseur in crime. He could identify the "workmanship" of a criminal as certainly as an art expert could recognise an Old Master. He knew all the partnerships in the underworld and if "a tall dark man" worked a confidence trick he knew that he had to look for "a blonde partner with blue eyes". His album was made up of over 500,000 records—for names did not matter to him. Hundreds of thousands passed under his scrutiny and he never forgot a face nor the crime connected with that

Ivory and Jade

One of the outstanding events of the winter season will be the great exhibition of Chinese art which is to be held at Burlington house and which is now being prepared behind locked doors.

The treasures, which come chiefly from the collection of the Imperial Palace of Peking, number about 21,000 pieces. These include 360 porcelain pieces of the Sung, Yuan Ming and Ching periods—the finest collection of Chinese ceramics ever brought together in one place. 112 exhibits are of the Sung period. They range from the delicate white Ting ware (through the wonderful shades of green known as celadon, various tints of blue and the rich rose-purple of Sung-Chun, to the golden black of the Sung Chien Yang ware. Examples from the Yuan dynasty are ivory white with decorations of dragons or symbols in high relief. There are 78 pieces of the Ming period, among which the richest colours are to be found, including the ruby-red of the Ming Hsuan Te ware.

There will be some lovely specimens of Chinese painting on silk in the exhibition. The artists were sophisticated when painting in Europe was still primitive, and their style has changed little through the centuries.

Among exhibits lent by the United States will be a superb piece of sculpture of the fourth century, lent by Mrs. J. D. Rockefeller, and a number of bronzes, the earliest expression of Chinese art, some of which date back to 1200 B. C.

The collection will include many early jades of almost every colour except red and pink. The most remarkable example from the Peking collection is the three small blocks joined together by jade chains, the whole cut out of one piece of pure yellow jade, the rarest colour of all.

The King and Queen and the President of the Chinese Republic are the patrons of the Exhibition and it is possible that the Queen

Primate of England Supports League Covenant

FULLER VERSION OF DR.
LANG'S ADDRESS ON DISPUTE

(British Official Wireless Press)

The 65th Congress of the Church of England presided over by the Bishop of Winchester (the Rt. Rev. C. F. Garbett) has a full programme of discussions before it under the general title of "Christianity in the Modern State."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, speaking at the opening session at Bournemouth, referred to the outbreak of hostilities in Ethiopia. The Congress, he said, were meeting in a mood of mingled distress and indignation.

"How can we fail to be indignant when we see a great European Power, which has signed the Covenant of the League and the Pact of Paris, treating these solemn obligations with cynical contempt and launching a fierce attack upon a fellow member of the League?" His Grace asked.

Unprovoked Aggression

"If there was ever an act of unprovoked aggression, surely it is this.

"Ethiopia may be a backward state, but is it possible to think without resentment and a quickening of the heart of a proud and ancient people defending its own land, with scanty military resources, with scarcely any hospitals, surgeons or nurses, of such a people being mowed down by a vast and pitiless war-machine equipped with all the power which science has invented for the destruction of human life?"

every bit and more of her repute in the world's eyes; she would have established a sound basis of friendship with Ethiopia; and her resultant economic and territorial gains would, with equal certainty, outweigh enormously any gains which, doubtfully, might have fallen to her by sacrificing tens of thousands of her youth and by the pestilential savagery of modern warfare, and (as the outside world sees it) by the loss of her good repute among the nations.

The alternative to Italy's acceptance of the League as an international "court of honour" is a cynical and contemptuous challenge to the League to do its worst; it is tantamount to Italy's saying that she neither herself believes in the League's sense of justice nor does she believe that, when put to the test, any other nation believes in it either. It is this challenge that the League Assembly at Geneva must now answer.

The Memel Election Results

About a month ago Germany estimated that the number of seats rightly due to the German element in the Memel district was not less than two-thirds, or 20 out of 29; and that a less favourable result would be decisive proof of deliberate "rigging" of the elections by the Lithuanian Government. The results so far available make it manifest that the German majority will be far more than was anticipated: already they have won 23 seats out of 27.

This ends, at least for the time being, a somewhat unedifying episode in East Europe. The Lithuanian Government may not have been wholly guiltless of an attempt to "guide" the elections as much as possible to the detriment of the German voters; but the National Socialist German Government has left untried no effort, dignified and undignified, to discredit Lithuania. In the end, after all the weeks of highly-charged German propaganda, the repeated orations and rumbling threats of the Fuehrer, the worst that can be laid to Lithuania's charge is a tendency to bickering with her very intractable German subjects, and ludicrous muddle and vexatious mismanagement in the conduct of the election. Perhaps never before was there devised such a clumsy manner of voting. Each elector, after hours of waiting, was given a block of 187 perforated sheets each bearing the name of a candidate. Out of these 187, the elector was required to tear out exactly 29, put them in a flimsy unsealed envelope, and deposit the envelope in a voting urn. One voter, it is said, took three hours in the process; and thousands of slips were found loose in the urn and burned; German sources report many acts of chicanery in the counting; and, certainly, if the voting had not resulted in so substantial a majority for the Germans, the Third Reich would have engineered an embarrassing international situation. Now it is to be hoped, the excitement worked up by Germany will be allowed to die down and the Lithuanian Government given a more restful atmosphere in which to carry out the awkward Memel State of 1924, as guaranteed by the three supervising Powers, France, Italy and Great Britain.

Now he is retiring to his native Cornwall to do a little deep sea fishing—and when fish stories become a bit dull, he will have a few crime tales to relate.

Another beautiful house in Berkeley Square W., once one of London's most exclusive thoroughfares, has been sold and will soon be turned into an office building. The house, No. 47, has been unoccupied for awhile, and was formerly the home of Lady Seaforth. Its associations are generally political, going back over many generations. From 1774 to 1796 it was the home of the second Earl of Chatham. At the beginning of the 19th century it was the town residence of the then Lord Langford; in 1891 Mr.

The Archbishop then announced the forthcoming appeal, to which he was one of the signatories, for Red Cross work in Ethiopia, and asked for the support of Church people.

Violation of Justice

Turning to the general issue, Dr. Lang said that they must recognise that peace in itself was not an idea and had no intrinsic worth if it meant acquiescence in the violation both of justice and the rule of law.

The League of Nations was created to establish the collective rule of law and was the only alternative to national self-assertion or those rival alliances which had been proved effective not to protect peace but to provoke war.

"No selfish interests move us and no selfish interests must dissuade us from taking our place with other nations bound to the Covenant, in its defence," he declared.

Italy's Needs

Finally, the Primate said that they were bound to give full weight in the dispute to the needs of Italy for expansion and fuller access to supplies of raw material.

He referred sympathetically to the proposals or consideration of an equitable distribution of the economic resources of undeveloped parts of the world.

AMERICAN CITIZENS WARNED BY CONSUL

TRAVELLERS ON ITALIAN AND ETHIOPIAN SHIPS

American citizens travelling on Italian and Ethiopian ships will do so at their own risk, it is pointed out by the U.S. Consul-General in Jerusalem, in a communication to The Palestine Post.

The Consul-General states that he has been notified of this advice under the authority of the Neutrality resolution of the U. S. Congress approved on August 31, 1935, and proclaimed by President Roosevelt on October 5.

Term of Grace

The warning does not apply in the case of U. S. citizens who might be en route to America on such a ship during a period of 90 days from the date of the proclamation, i.e. before January 5, 1936.

An anomalous statement in the communication (writes a Staff Correspondent) is that Ethiopia, a land-girt territory, has no navy or mercantile marine, so that there is little likelihood of Americans or any other nationals travelling on ships under the Ethiopian maritime flag. They do not exist.

The obvious inference is that America, wishing to pose as strictly neutral, has ignored the fact that Ethiopia runs no world pleasure cruises. The monarchs of the Italian Lines, such as "Rex" and "Conte di Savoia," which are so popular among American voyagers, are hardest hit by this warning.

Mediterranean trips will be greatly affected unless (as it is hinted) the present situation may take a change for the better during the coming three months.

HEDJAZ RAILWAY CONFERENCE TODAY

Reopening of the Line

The feasibility of reopening the Hedjaz Railway to Medina will be discussed among other technical matters at a conference which will start in Haifa at 10 o'clock this morning.

Consideration will be given to the state of the line and the cost of re-conditioning it.

The conference consists of representatives from Palestine, Syria and the Hedjaz. It will be presided over by Mr. C. R. Webb, general manager of the Palestine Railways.

HAIFA, Wednesday. — Sixteen new railway wagons, ten closed and six open, have recently arrived from England, and will be added to the rolling stock of the Palestine Railways. Another large shipment of closed wagons is expected before the end of November in preparation for the coming orange season.

One-hundred-and-seventy new workers have been taken on recently in the traffic department.

Food Prices in Haifa Markets

INCREASE IN COST OF SUGAR AND RICE

(From Our Own Correspondent)

HAIFA, Wednesday. — Grocery owners here have increased the price of a number of imported foodstuffs without apparent justification. The price of a sack of granulated sugar, of 100 kilograms, has jumped from LP. 1.115 to LP. 1.350, while lump sugar is selling for 400 mils a case of 25 kilograms, which is an increase of 45 mils per case. The price of rice has been raised from LP. 1.400 mils a sack to LP. 1.700, and coffee, which formerly sold at 170 mils a rottle (Haifa measure), is now fetching 190 mils.

It is learned from a reliable source that there is no justification for the rise since prices remain the same in the places of origin and in Egypt, the centre for the distribution of colonial goods in the Middle East.

Merchants explain the rise in prices on the ground that there is not sufficient storage of these goods in Haifa.

The price of flour has not increased while the price of a "measure" of two-and-a-half rottles of oil has fallen by 40 mils and is sold for 345 mils. The price of sesame and barley is stationary.

JERUSALEM WATER RATIONED AT SIX DAY INTERVALS

Jerusalem residents will probably be receiving water once every six days instead of once every five days as a result of the decision of the Water Committee of the Jerusalem Municipality to place a resolution before the meeting of the Council today, asking that the water supply be diminished.

The action is necessary since it is not definitely known when the water supply from Ras-el-Ain will reach Jerusalem and the amount of water in the reservoirs does not justify the present distribution. While it had been previously learned from authoritative sources that the Ras-el-Ain pipes would be functioning during October, it was stated at the meeting yesterday that there was no assurance that Jerusalem would be receiving water before December 1, owing to the fact that certain necessary machinery has not yet been received.

It was pointed out at the meeting that, at the present rate of distribution, the water in the reservoirs of Solomon's Pool, Ein Arub and Romema, would be exhausted in forty days, since they contain only 10,000,000 gallons of water which is being distributed from them at the rate of 250,000 gallons a day. These reservoirs are used to supplement the regular supply since 730,000 gallons of water are used daily, while only 470,000 gallons are available.

It was decided to postpone the discussion regarding the request of the Government to dismiss sixty employees working on the pipelines. The supplying of water to buildings outside the Jerusalem Municipal area was also discussed and a decision reserved in view of the present shortage.

AROUSING INTEREST IN PAN-ARAB CONGRESS

Emir's Chamberlain Goes to Baghdad

Interest in the proposed Pan-Arab Congress is to be created in Iraq by the Emir Jamil, Court Chamberlain to the Emir Abdullah, who has just gone to Baghdad for that purpose, says "Al Balagh" of Cairo.

The paper adds that one of the aims of the congress would be to discuss the fusion of Palestine and Trans-Jordan and the enthronement of the Emir Abdullah as ruler over both.

But the promoters of the congress emphasise that, under such a regime, Trans-Jordan would not be included in the purview of the Jewish National Home.

"Al Balagh" adds a footnote that the Jewish population would oppose the rule of an Arab king in Palestine.

CROWDS ATTACK YOUTH Suspected of Connivance with Police

A Yemenite youth, Menashe Levy of Beth Israel Quarter, Jerusalem, was set upon Tuesday afternoon in the Mahne Yehuda market by a crowd of close upon fifty persons who suspected him of giving police the names of illegal immigrants. Levy took refuge in a barber's shop, belonging to Meir Haim Mizrahi on Agrippas Street, where he was followed by the crowd which had been by that time increased to several hundred.

The owner of the shop succeeded under a hail of stones, in closing his iron shutters, but not before his windows and other furniture had been shattered. The solitary policeman on the scene was helpless and he called for reinforcements from the Mahne Yehuda Police Station.

After the crowd had been to some extent dispersed, Levy was taken to the Mahne Yehuda Police Station, while threatening crowds followed him and his escort and later continued to walk around the streets in the vicinity of the station. At a late hour Tuesday night the youth was still in the station afraid to return to his home.

It is alleged that Levy, who is a recent arrival in this country, is himself here illegally.

In Short

A DEFECTIVE ENGINE caused a taxi to burst into flames in Haifa on Tuesday night. The damage was estimated at LP. 25.

PALESTINIAN CONSTABLE, 1,122, sustained head injuries and a broken wrist when he went off the road on a motor-cycle, North of Ramallah. The Ramallah police are investigating.

THE LIGHTING OF A MATCH to examine the motor resulted in a taxi catching fire in Nahlat Shiva Rd., Jerusalem, last night. Passersby quickly extinguished the blaze with sand and stone and whatever was at hand and it is alleged that the fire-fighting materials caused more damage to the taxi than the blaze.

RECEPTION AT EGYPTIAN CONSULATE

A reception was held yesterday at the Egyptian Consulate in Jerusalem on the occasion of the anniversary of the accession of King Fuad I. Those present included the A.D.C. to His Excellency, members of the Consular Corps, Government officials and representatives of many institutions. Mr. I. Ben-Zvi, Chairman of the National Council of Palestine Jews, and Mr. Abraham Elmaleh, member of The Council, were also present.

A TRUCK ran into a Nablus bus near Ramallah and did not stop. Eyewitnesses reported the truck's number to be 106B and the Ramallah police are investigating.

by dissipating such feelings from the minds of the handful — for it is only a handful — of nervous individuals, who with an utter disregard of the consequences are beginning to hoard cash rather than leave it in its proper place, fulfilling its proper function.

"Our monetary system being based on sterling, is the safest and the soundest in the world, for is not Great Britain the strongest country, financially, that there is today? We are under the wing of the British Empire. That ought to be good enough security for Palestine.

"There has been no change in the economic position of Palestine during the past six months, which warrants a withdrawal of your confidence from those banking institutions whose position justified your confidence formerly. Bills due by importers, wholesalers, retailers, and by all parties, have been remarkably well paid. Is not this the barometer of our condition? May I speak a little plainer. There is no crisis in Palestine but by your action you must be careful not to create one.

"We, the Advisory Committee of the Levant Fair, have full confidence in the future and we intend to show it in no unmistakable way by carrying on actively with the plans and arrangements for next year's Fair. It is going to be an even more impressive demonstration than ever before or what we in Palestine can do and what we stand for. Don't let us be afraid because the immediate future is a little obscure and let us, wherever we find fear, dissipate it. Let us continue to go ahead for there is much upbuilding still to be done. And for today and for the days that are immediately ahead, let our motto be, "Business as usual."

Mr. Hoofien, speaking of the present banking situation stated: "Although the past few weeks have brought the smaller banks some anxious days, the latter have all, without any exception, punctually kept all their engagements and have never yet disappointed a depositor. They have however been forced to restrict credits for which no one can blame them."

The speaker placed the blame with the public who through its own short-sightedness has caused its present difficulties.

DOUBLE BEGETS DOUBLE

The habit of bidding in a fast moving auction sale or a free bidding contract game is equally contagious. And perhaps the most contagious of all the bids is the double. Once the doubling starts in good earnest, it is rare that a final contract is played undoubled.

With partner showing every evidence of a strong hand, East was unable to resist the temptation to double on his five trumps in today's deal. Yet, although the defence was perfect, Declarer could not be prevented from scoring the nine tricks for which he had contracted.

East-West vulnerable.

with only three.

4 — Partner can; but perhaps unwisely.

The Play

West made the fine opening of the singleton Queen of spades, but to no avail. On the bidding, West was marked with the top card strength and length in hearts. East's double could therefore be based only on trumps, and Declarer accordingly assumed West's opening lead to be a singleton, particularly since, after winning the King in Dummy and leading a club which West won with the Ace, the trumps were not continued. West returned the Queen of hearts which was won by Dummy's Ace, and the Queen of clubs cashed, Declarer discarding a diamond. A club lead was ruffed in the South hand, the King of hearts cashed, and a low heart trumped in Dummy. Now another club was played from Dummy and East, realizing the futility of trumping, discarded a diamond. South won this trick with the spade eight and played his last heart which Dummy ruffed with the Ace, East discarding his last diamond. A fifth round of clubs found East compelled to trump, but to no avail. If he trumped with the Jack, South's ten would be high. When he trumped low, South over-ruffed had thus enabled Declarer to score his nine tricks and South's remaining losers were doubly won by West's high diamonds and East's three trumps. Unfortunately for East-West winning the same trick twice counts no more than once.

POTATO SCONES

Expecting Mr. Pepys's Cousin Gladys to take tea with me this afternoon, decide to make some Potato Scones, from a Scotch recipe, this being, as I know, a favourite scone with her, and one that she tells me she never meets with except at my table. The manner of making them very simple I find. That to allow equal parts of well mashed potatoes and flour, adding to the potato a little salt and also a little melted butter, these to be well blended. Now knead in the flour on a board and roll out to $\frac{1}{2}$ of an inch in thickness. Cut into rounds and mark with a fork; cook on both sides on a hot girdle. These scones can of course be cooked on an over sheet but

Feminine Reflections

THEIR VERY OWN ROOM

By BASEDEN BUTT

It is a great advantage in almost any home if the children have their own playroom where, within reasonable limits, they may be left to enjoy themselves in their own way. If houseroom, however, is very precious, one of the boy's bedrooms could be equipped as a children's bed-sitting-room, with a low divan-bed and toy cupboards, so that it can also do service as a day nursery.

Furnishing the nursery is by no means an easy task, for it is necessary to remember that many things that may seem highly attractive to mother leave the children quite unmoved. As a general rule they do care for anything "precious" or too elaborate.

Some very attractive nursery furniture is lacquered or enamel painted in bright and delicate colours which can be used for working out a really delightful nursery colour scheme. There is also furniture in natural timber, showing the grain of the wood, oak being the best for our purpose as it is hard and strong.

On A Small Scale

But whatever type of furniture is chosen, the various items should certainly be small in scale. A play table for children of from two to six or seven years old should be 1 ft. 6 in. high, and the chairs accompanying it should have a height from seat to floor of not more than 12 inches. It is important that, when seated, the children's feet should rest firmly on the floor. Swinging feet are a great cause of fatigue; they put a harmful strain on the spine and cause a stoop in later life.

Toy cupboards and any fitted shelves about the room should also be well within reach by the children, so that they may get their toys out and put them away again for themselves, thereby developing both the habit of tidiness and a sense of arrangement.

Similar principles should be followed in the night nursery or children's bedrooms. There are dwarf chests of drawers, and wardrobes with a height of 3 feet or so, and with these, the children should be encouraged to help in taking care of their own clothes.

Another good idea is the new nursery furniture designed on the combination unit principle. The units consist of toy cupboards, bookshelves, tables and "bridging" units which

NEW NOTES IN DRESS

Recent London dress shows demonstrate that Indian, Greek, Egyptian and Italian influences have inspired the new clothes.

Schiaparelli has introduced "Hammock" nets, which are drawn over the hair, hiding waves and curls. The nets are coarse in texture, black for street and day wear and of pearls or gold silken threads for evening. Comic little hats, like a pleated table-napkin, are worn at an eccentric angle on these nets.

Another good idea is the new nursery furniture designed on the combination unit principle. The units consist of toy cupboards, bookshelves, tables and "bridging" units which can be grouped in a great variety of combinations enabling the children to arrange and re-arrange the nursery for themselves to their hearts' content.

The interior decorations should be carried out in a practical spirit. The walls should be done plainly with a washable water paint or oil paint, and a blackboard or a cork mat fixed to the wall will be found invaluable. The children should be encouraged to draw and paint their own pictures so that there will be a constant variety of mural decorations which they can arrange and contrive themselves. At first, you may be inclined to smile at their efforts, but with a little patience, you may soon be agreeably surprised by the skill which they attain.

The most important thing, however, is to decorate and furnish a nursery which will give the children pleasure while at the same time being a room for everyday use. Most children are appreciative and careful with good furniture if they are allowed to feel that it is "their very own."

GO IN ONE WEEK

At 29 this woman felt 50—and all because of corns! She tried most remedies before she found the sure reliever—Radox. Radox brought comfort; brought back her youth. Her husband also had corns—until he used Radox. Just read this letter:—

"Until a few months ago I could hardly hobble about. Owing to corns and hard skin, and soreness, my feet made my life a misery. I dreaded walking anywhere, though only 29 years old. Then I decided to try Radox, and believe me after one footbath my feet were ten times better. Within a week I had not a corn or any hard skin to trouble me. I can walk anywhere and what a relief it does feel. I must say I feel my own age, whereas before I felt about 50. My husband also suffered from corns, and he also has got rid of them, thanks to Radox."—(Mrs.) E. R.

Radox charges the water with life-giving oxygen gas which carries the softening salts of Radox right to the root of the corn. Soon the corn becomes detached at the root. Then you can lift it out bodily, root and all, without a twinge.

Next Saturday's Needle Games

WEDNESDAY ENTERTAIN DERBY

By LINESMAN

Next Saturday's matches should produce some thrilling contests. Huddersfield have to visit Middlesbrough and will be hard pressed to retain their unbeaten record, while Derby County journey to Sheffield where they will be entertained by the Cupholders. One of the greatest tussles, however, will be the London "derby" game between Chelsea and Arsenal at Stamford Bridge. This game will doubtless attract a bumper crowd.

If it is possible for a man to be elated and despondent at the same time, George Allison must have been undergoing that experience. The golden stream has been pouring into Highbury with undiminished fervour, while attendances elsewhere have been on the slump. But until two weeks ago victories, which are the life-blood of all professional teams, continued to elude the Arsenal. Two wins in seven games was far from championship form.

Just as the Arsenal fans were beginning to ask "what is wrong with the Arsenal" they produced their top form by winning at Stoke by three clear goals and on Saturday last they followed up with a five goals to one win at home against Blackburn.

In their first four home matches 234,000 people have seen the champions play and the gross receipts are roughly £15,000. Many Third Division clubs do not draw that amount in a whole season. Here are the illuminating figures:

68,000	v. Sunderland
40,000	v. Grimsby
62,000	v. Wednesday
64,000	v. Manchester City.

In the whole history of the game one cannot recall any club drawing such colossal crowds in four consecutive league matches.

The Fight for Promotion

Leicester City's smashing victory of six clear goals over Doncaster last week, places them as outstanding favourites for promotion.

but with Southampton, Manchester United and the Spurs all in close proximity, their slightest slip may be fatal.

Since the Spurs startled the football World some weeks ago by announcing that the whole of their team was for sale, they have been running into form and in their last four games have secured seven points. Whether the Spurs were unduly pessimistic or not, or whether the statement served as a fillip to the energies of the Tottenham stalwarts, the fact remains that the Spurs would find much difficulty at the present juncture in finding any better players than those they now possess.

Norwich City, who last year created a sensation by winning the championship of the Third South and promotion, have been having a lean time, but their last Saturday's performance of sharing the points at Southampton, denotes an improvement in form.

The Lowly Third

Tranmere and Lincoln City maintain their bid for promotion from the Third North, while in the Southern division Reading and Coventry, with Crystal Palace a good third, are the best of a good bunch of teams. Bournemouth fell from grace on Saturday by losing at home to Gillingham, while Torquay dropped a valuable home point to Southend.

Grim Fight in Scottish League

Celtic and Aberdeen at the top, each with nineteen points, and Rangers close on their heels with eighteen, is the present state of affairs existing in the fight for championship honours in the Scottish league. Not for many years has there been such a stirring triple contest.

In the second division, St. Mirren, still at the top, are piling up the points, but Falkirk dropped to fourth place due to their defeat at Stenhousemuir. Morton and St. Bernards both won last Saturday and hold second and third places respectively.

The First International

The first international game of the season, that between Wales and Scotland at Cardiff, ended in a draw, each side scoring one goal. The game attracted the usual big crowd but the football did not

TENNIS

THE PACIFIC COAST CHAMPIONSHIP

The Pacific Coast Tennis championships, which came to an end on Saturday last, were the source of some personal triumphs for Miss Freda James and Donald Budge, having won the Men's Singles, continued his good form, when, partnered by Miss James, he won the Mixed Doubles, beating Hines and Miss Babcock by 11/9, 6/4.

Miss James' other success was in the Women's doubles, which she won in partnership with Miss Kay Stammers.

Mrs. Arnold won the Women's Singles from Miss Babcock.

Dr. Prenn Retains Title

Weather conditions, in contrast to previous days, were ideal for tennis when the Scottish Lowland tournament entered on its concluding stage at Peebles. Dr. Prenn, the former German number one player, retained the men's singles title and Miss Winnie Mason also retained the women's title. Miss Mason had a share in two other titles, winning the women's doubles with Mrs. John Clark against last year's holders Miss J. Saunders and Miss M'Ostrich, and the mixed doubles in partnership with Donald McPhail.

A Marathon Set

When a player loses a set 14-12 after saving no fewer than 12 set points, he is undoubtedly entitled to high commendation — so is the winner of it for having "nosed out" as they say in America — at long last. The occasion which has given rise to these reflections was the final of the Cumberland Club, Highgate, men's singles last week in which J. S. Oliff beat F. H. D. Wilde by 14/12, 6/2.

TENNIS AT TEL AVIV

The second annual tennis championships of the Amateur Sports Clubs Federation of Palestine will be held at the Maccabi courts in Tel Aviv over the week end. This tournament is open to all, and a large list of entries is expected.

While "Josh" Simon, last year's champion, showed that he was in good trim in the finals of the Dizengoff Tournament last week, and other veterans did likewise, the centre of attraction will be a group of youngsters, particularly the Rajwan brothers, and Walter Kornfeld.

BOXING

FOUR OUNCES OF RING GOSSIP

PURSES REFUSED BY BOXERS

By KNOCK OUT

That all is not well with the control of the fistic art in general and with the arrangement of championship matches and eliminators in particular needs no denial. In this respect the Stewards of the British Boxing Board of Control have made a sensational move in an effort to strengthen their position as governors of professional boxing in England.

A special meeting has been convened by Lord Lonsdale, the president, at which the Stewards will discuss, and, if it is considered advisable, make arrangements to deal with those responsible for the recent refusals in certain quarters to accept purses after these have been approved by the Board.

It has for many years been realised that far too large a percentage of the takings at boxing matches throughout the world has found its way into the pockets of the promoters.

The takings at the match between Joe Louis and Max Baer were estimated to have been round about £220,000. Of this amount the promoters took nearly a third, and although this left a fair margin for division between the two contestants, it must be remembered that the expense of maintaining a training base and the contingent staff of sparring partners is tremendous.

Recent Bouts

The recent fight between Baer and Louis has absorbed most of the limelight in the boxing world, but several really good fights have taken place during the past two weeks that are worthy of mention.

Jimmy Wilde, heavyweight champion of Wales, beat Norman Baines, London, on points at Swansea after a sensational contest. Baines had much the better of the opening and seemed set for a quick win when in the second round he knocked Wilde down for three counts of eight. In the next round the Welsh champion was down again; this time for a count of nine. But he fought back gamely, and gradually took command to score sufficient points in the latter rounds to earn the decision.

The Spanish "Tarzan"

Another great fight, which ended in four rounds, was staged at the Albert Hall, London, between Ben Foord, the South African, and Pancho Villar, the Spanish "Tarzan." Villar was forced to retire at the end of the fourth round due to a broken bone in the right hand.

The fight was a merry one while it lasted, both boxers being all out to administer the knock-out.

The clever use of his left won the first round for Foord, but the second round was a bit slapdash both men doing a lot of hustling and neither delivering anything like a hard blow.

The third round was wild from the beginning, Foord rushing his opponent to the ropes on several occasions and missing at least one fine opportunity of flooring Villar.

Mizler Beats Humery

Harry Mizler, the former British light-weight champion, knocked out Gustave Humery in the eighth of a scheduled ten round contest at the Albert Hall.

The fight was a thrilling one. Early in the fight Mizler was all at sea against the Frenchman and actually took four counts of nine and one of eight. In spite of heavy persuasion on the part of his seconds he refused to give in and fought back in such fine style, that in the eighth round he was well on top and in dealing out the knock-out to Humery he won a gallant fight.

As Gustave Humery has beaten Berg three times this year, and as Berg, before that won his title from Mizler, the elimination process of finding a challenger for Berg seems more involved than ever. In any case Mizler now appears to have first claim.

The Berlin Definition

Lively exchanges on the subject of the 50 kilometres walking championship at the Olympic Games in Berlin next year featured the annual meeting of the Board Walking Association, held in London last week. While definite information is not yet available it appears that the German definition of walking, and not the B.W.A. definition, which is accepted as the international one, is to apply in the Olympic race, and that the majority of the judges will be German. The General Committee of the B.W.A. is to draw the attention of the Amateur Athletic Association to this assumed position with a view to having the necessary steps taken to enforcing the international definition and the appointment of judges by the usual means.

Another New Record

A new World Track record was set at the White City, London, last Saturday, when Harold Whitlock, the British champion, completed the fifty miles distance in seven and three quarter hours, thus knocking nearly 8 minutes off the previous record which had stood for thirty years.

The Perth-Dundee walk was won by A. D. Galloway, Luton Athenian A. C., who covered the twenty-two miles course in three hours twelve minutes 27 seconds. A. D. Galloway was also the previous year's winner.

T. W. Green, Eastleigh, Hants, the well-known English walker and Olympic Games athlete, finished second.

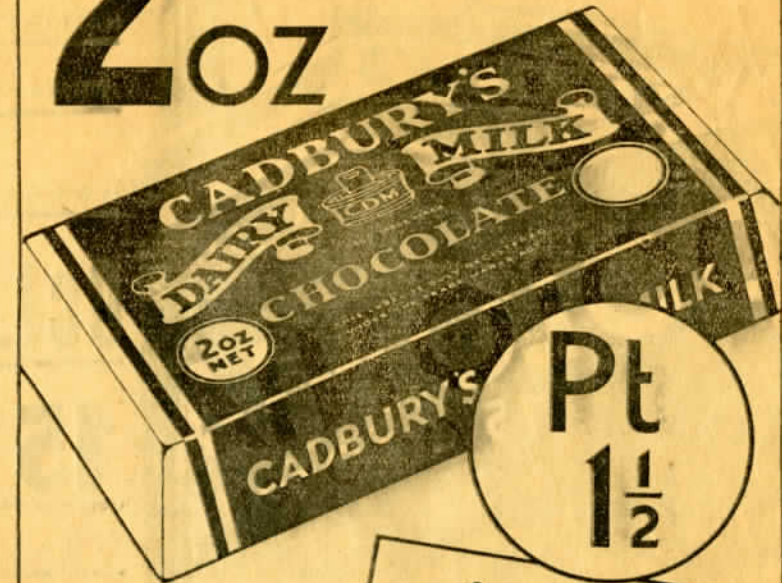

sea after a sensational contest. Baines had much the better of the opening and seemed set for a quick win when in the second round he knocked Wilde down for three counts of eight. In the next round the Welsh champion was down again; this time for a count of nine. But he fought back gamely, and gradually took command to in dealing out the knock-out to Humery he won a gallant fight.

As Gustave Humery has beaten Berg three times this year, and as Berg, before that won his title from Mizler, the elimination process of finding a challenger for Berg seems more involved than ever. In any case Mizler now appears to have first claim.

BRITISH-FRENCH DISAGREEMENT rival of Colonel Beck, Polish Foreign Minister. He had not been expected to come in person, and this change of plan is thought to indicate that Poland has reconsidered her attitude since the Polish Ambassador's talk with Signor Suvich, Italian Foreign Under-Secretary.

He is said to have met the Italian Ambassador at Warsaw, prior to his departure.

Direct Negotiations

The "Giornale d'Italia" states, in an article by Signor Gayda, that Italy is now willing to negotiate directly with England and France on the basis of the 1906 Treaty. But she will leave the League once sanctions are imposed.

Diplomatic exchanges, however, will not impede the execution of Italian military plans to "ward off the Ethiopian menace," the writer adds.

Protest by Italy

The Italian Government has protested against the expulsion of Count Vinci from Addis Ababa.

In a Note to the League, Signor Suvich says, "The Italian Government is obliged to reject most categorically, and to protest against, the reasons put forward to justify the Ethiopian Government's action."

The Ethiopian Charge d'Affaires at Rome was expected to leave for Addis Ababa yesterday.

BRITISH CABINET MEETS

The British Cabinet met at 10, Downing Street, yesterday morning, and adopted several provisional decisions. But these will not be applied until the League had defined its final attitude.

It was also resolved to summon Parliament on October 21, a week before the date to which it was prorogued, if events at Geneva justified such a course.

The Secretary for Mines, Captain Crookshank was summoned to the meeting. This is understood to be significant as England exports large quantities of coal to Italy.

Italy and Naval Arms

The Italian Ambassador has informed Sir Samuel Hoare that his Government is willing to take part in any conference called to discuss naval matters.

Such a conference is scheduled to be held when the Washington and London Naval Treaties expire.

All Quiet

According to Ethiopian sources, the losses around Adowa accounted for 500 Italian killed and 1,040 wounded, and 400 Ethiopian killed and 1,300 wounded.

Many of the Ethiopians are said to be succumbing to their wounds owing to the lack of effective medical aid.

The Italian troops claim that while the capture of Adowa was a political move, the attack on Axum had all the marks of brilliant military strategy.

They also state that a river bed, running from Eritrea into the heart of Ethiopia, has been captured, and ensures a steady and successful advance for 300 miles into the interior.

The Suez Canal

In spite of the statement by the Suez Canal Company that they cannot close it under the 1888 Convention, it now remains to be seen what the League will do (adds our London correspondent in an Air Mail despatch received yesterday).

Italian submarines — which must have passed through the canal — are stopping arms-running to Ethiopia in the Red Sea. No act of war may be lawfully committed within three miles of any port, nor can it be blockaded in the ordinary way.

The League, however, has power to stop an aggressor passing troops, munitions, or war supplies through it.

Great Britain owns no fewer than 176,602 of the original 400,000 shares issued. This big block was purchased by the far-seeing Lord Beaconsfield when the Egyptian Khedive put them on the market owing to financial straits. There are also many private British shareholders.

(Sir Garnet Wolseley closed the Canal for four days before he fought and defeated Arabi Pasha at Tel el Kebir in September 1882. During the Great War, Britain and France took over the canal from the Company.)
